TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Work on the Millwood Dam in southwest Arkansas, the first step in a $136 million chain of federal lakes, is scheduled to begin early next year.

The dam is expected to be completed in 1966 at a cost of $55.7 million.

Work on the smaller Broken Bow Dam on Mountain Fork River in southeast Oklahoma will get under way early in 1963, and will cost $15.8 million. It also has a 1966 completion date.

Eventually the chain of seven dams is expected to prevent more than $1 million a year in flood damage. Heretofore, yearly flooding has caused over $2.5 million damage to the areas.

Tulsa District Army Engineers will open bids Thursday for an access road to Broken Bow.

Bids for construction of project buildings will be opened Nov. 14 for Millwood.

Discovers a Mammoth Tooth

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Earl Fawcett said he was walking along a creek bed fishing when he stepped on a hard object.

University of Alabama geologists examined the object and said it was a tooth from a mammoth—an animal that lived before the ice age and resembled an elephant.

The age of the huge tooth was estimated as between 12,000 and 500,000 years.

Most mammoth remains have been found in Alaska and Siberia. Fawcett, of nearby Bradford, Ala., isn't saying where he found the tooth. He said he caught 12 bass that day, and he doesn't want a good fishing spot spoiled.

Gas Grenades Hurled by East Germans

BERLIN (AP) — East German police threw tear gas grenades at the West Berlin crowd today after five East Berliners jumped from a second-story window of a border house into a sand-filled truck, West Berlin police said.

The incident occurred at Bernauerstrasse. There, apartment houses on one side of the street are in the Soviet sector, while the sidewalks below are in West Berlin.

At around noon, the truck roared up to one apartment house. Seconds later three men and two women jumped into it. West Berliners standing nearby cheered. The Vopos — East German people's police—were taken by surprise but after realizing what happened tossed several gas grenades into the West Berlin crowd.

West Berlin police said the two women suffered minor injuries in the jump.

The East Germans, meanwhile, acknowledged that mobilization of the workers' militia to man the barricades has dealt a serious economic blow.

Red economic chief Alfred Neumann told the party's Central Committee Sunday "the withdrawal of workers from a factory for outside activities not connected with their trade must be extensively stopped."

Neumann said industrial output was up three billion marks—$714 million at the official rate of exchange. But he said over-all production was falling short of targets fixed in the regime's seven-year economic plan.

The brown-uniformed militiamen played a large role in building the wall dividing East and West Berlin when the barricades began going up Aug. 13. But early this month they seemed to disappear—apparently back to the factories.

Despite the close police guard on the Berlin border, Americans were allowed to pass into East Berlin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, in a demonstration of Western rights to move anywhere in the divided city, toured the Communist sector Sunday night. President Kennedy's personal representative here was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commandant. Police made no attempt to interfere with them.

Five women employees of the private American car bearing Army license plates, were turned back twice at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint when they refused to show their identity papers to East German guards. Lt. Thomas S. Bainbridge of Detroit, Mich., showed up in uniform, took over the wheel of the car with the women as passengers and rode through.

Four other Americans—three civilian teachers and a U.S. State Department official traveling alone—were held up returning from visits to East Germany when they declined to show their papers. Then without explanation, they were allowed to pass.

The Western Allies contend that only the Soviet Union has the right to check cars with Allied military registrations.

So, police said, he went looking for vengeance on a source of his troubles. He was arrested moments after noon, tonight and Tuesday. High-temperature this afternoon 70. Lowest tonight in the 40s. Highest Tuesday

Russia Calls on U. S. for Friendship

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union published an appeal for friendship with the United States, Britain and France today, within 24 hours of opening the big Communist party congress.

The appeal was one of the many slogans the country publishes each year in advance of the Nov. 7 celebration of the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution. There are 101 slogans this year.

While the congress will adopt a program calling for Soviet economic and cultural development aimed at spreading communism over the world, the party Central Committee not only proposed peace and friendship between East and West but even invited friendship with the people of West Germany.

"Long live friendship and co-operation between the people of Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union in the interests of a stable peace throughout the world," said slogan No. 38. The slogans occupied the entire first page of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ.

Among major news items was one on the arrival of the Chinese delegation.

The delegation is headed by Premier Chou En-lai. But the Chinese party's No. 1 member, Mao Tse-tung stayed at home.

The ideological schism of the Soviet and Chinese parties continues and appeared to be reflected in Mao's absence and the cooling of relations between the Soviet Union and little Albania, which these days is taking its principal guidance from China.

Louisiana Laws Illegal, Court Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today a decision holding unconstitutional two laws of the Louisiana Legislature designed to aid that state's efforts to prevent racial segregation.

The decision was given May 4, 1961, by a special three-judge federal court in New Orleans. It was appealed to the high tribunal by Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion.

The Supreme Court, however, affirmed the special tribunal's ruling without the hearing of arguments. In a brief order, the high court said a motion by the United States to affirm was granted. The action apparently was unanimous.

The special court ruled two acts of the 1961 second extraordinary session of the legislature were "invidious weapons of a state administration dedicated to scuttling the modest program of desegregation which has been initiated in Orleans Parish."

It added that the legislature clearly wanted parents, teachers and other interested persons to understand they would be punished if they had any contact with an integrated school.

Gremillion's appeal questioned, among other things, the Justice Department's intervention in racial litigation in federal court in Louisiana. He contended the United States took part in such cases without authority in law and equity.

Youth Admits Slaying His Former Pals

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A moody youth—shot by state troopers as he attempted to flee from his Adirondack Mountains hide-out—has admitted he killed two former chums, police report.

The youth, Charles E. Warner, 16, seriously wounded by police five Sunday, is in a hospital here.

"We had a fight a long time ago," he said as he reportedly admitted the fatal shooting Saturday night of Philip Lindroth and Howard Linsdahl, each 17.

The violence began between two banks on the main street of this picturesque resort community—located as the birthplace of base ball—and ended at an Adirondack cabin on Big Moose Lake.

Warner had driven from Cooperstown to the lakeside cabin, about 110 miles north of Cooperstown, after the shooting. When state police approached, he attempted to drive off, they said.

Warner was shot in the back, leg and shoulder, and the car smashed into trees.

Herbert Warner, father of Charles, said he did not have "the slightest idea what brought this about."

None of the boys had been in trouble previously.

Residents of Cooperstown said the three had been inseparable companions until about a year ago, when Charles left the group. He was described as a loner and moody.

In the wrecked car, police found a pistol, two rifles, a 12-gauge shotgun, all loaded, and hundreds of rounds of ammunition.

260 Island Residents Bewildered

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The 260 islanders of Tristan da Cunha, dispossessed by a volcano, arrived in Cape Town today for their first bewildering contact with the 20th century world.

They arrived aboard the Dutch liner Tjisadane, which picked them up from neighboring Nightingale Island in the Atlantic after their island was shattered.

A large crowd turned out to greet them. Many of the newcomers had clothing and other gifts from the Christians, a people of British descent. The refugees are expected to go to Britain eventually.

Only a dozen had ever before left their isolated, mountainous colony of 42 square miles, dominated by the 7,610-foot volcanic peak that for centuries was extinct. Earthquakes accompanied the eruption last Monday.

The British frigate Leopard sailed from the domed island today after loading movable possessions the people, largely farmers and fishermen, left behind.

The sailors salvaged everything portable of value. They destroyed abandoned pets that could not be first vice president of the Arkansas Federation of Garden Clubs, expected to lend for themselves.

Nine Deaths by Violence in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Crosssett high school student fell out of a boat while aiming a gun and drowned at the junction of the Onachita and Saline Rivers near Crosssett Sunday, bringing Arkansas' violent death toll for the week ended at Sunday midnight to nine.

Six were killed in traffic accidents, one drowned, and one died in an explosion at West Memphis.

The drowning victim was James W. Gunter, 17, a junior student at Crosssett High School. Officers said he was in a boat with Tommy Willard, 17, of Crosssett and the boat hit a log, dumping Gunter into the water.

Willard rowed to the bank, witnessed said, and discarded his heavy hunting clothing, then swam back to help his friend, but could not find him. A search for the body was launched.

Angie Gould, 41, of Las Vegas, Nev., formerly of Harrisburg, was killed Saturday night when the car in which she was riding collided with another car on state Highway 14 near Harrisburg.

Mrs. Anna Hand, 69, of near Jonesboro, was killed Saturday and seven persons were injured in a collision involving two cars and a trailer truck on state Highway 39, six miles south of Jonesboro. Injured were the dead woman's daughter, Mrs. Eula Belle Hand, and five of her daughters.

Elyanda Hubert, 29, of Forrest City, was killed Saturday when her new sports car crashed head-on into another car three miles south of Bay on U.S. Highway 63.

45 Cubans Are Rescued by Coast Guard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Forty-five Cuban refugees, 18 of them children, arrived in Miami today after a Coast Guard rescue off the Bahamas island of Cay Sal with a U.S. destroyer standing by.

The destroyer sped to the scene after reports that a Cuban boat had fired on the small, leaking craft bearing the refugees. But refugee arrivals in Miami said they heard no shots.

"We heard no shots, but later heard rumors that there had been some," was the unanimous report of six women aboard.

The women and children were taken to a Miami hotel. The 21 men aboard were detained by immigration authorities for questioning.

J. S. Willmore, chief immigration official in Key West, and Sir Robert Stapledon, governor of the British Bahamas, issued brief statements.

The British governor, who sent policemen to the tiny island to investigate, said shots had been exchanged between "two Cuban fishing boats" just offshore after the refugees landed.

Willmore told newsmen: "I spoke with the Cuban political refugees, and they said that they were not shot at and that there was no shooting in their vicinity while they were on Cay Sal or while they were in the boat."

Cay Sal is leased by Clarence B. Moody, 63, owner of a Miami dredging business and once a builder of homes on islands near Miami. Moody said that he had notified the Coast Guard Saturday morning to pick up the refugees after receiving a radio-telephone call from a caretaker on the island. Then in the afternoon, Moody said, he received another call from the caretaker, Cleo Sears.

"This time he said to me, 'A Cuban boat is firing on the refugees on shore. We are desperately in need of help.' I notified the Coast Guard," Moody said.

The Coast Guard boat and a destroyer, already en route, were told to wait offshore Saturday night. The pickup was made the next morning. Moody flew to the island—130 miles southeast of Miami—Sunday.

He said he got this story from his caretaker: A boat 40 to 50 feet long flying the Cuban flag and with "Joe Louis" painted on the stern had been fishing in the area two or three days. It was anchored 1,000 feet from the island Saturday morning when a vessel which appeared to be a refugee boat picked up other refugees from a leaking boat and

President Back in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew back from a week-end on Cape Cod today for conferences with the president of Finland and Russia's western-inclined next-door neighbor.

The President's big jet landed after a flight of about an hour from Otis Air Force Base.

Kennedy was scheduled to remain at Andrews Air Force Base until Finnish President Urho Kekkonen arrived.

LONDON (AP) — Britain acted today to speed moves for a negotiated settlement of the Berlin crisis despite France's insistence on a slowdown.

John Russell, chief Foreign Office spokesman, announced Britain's top expert on German affairs, Sir Evelyn Shuckburgh, probably will join his American, French and West German opposite numbers in Washington soon for policy-making talks.

The date for this meeting has yet to be set, Russell told newsmen. He said it would replace the four-power Western meeting tentatively set for London Thursday but which the French blocked.

"The French government wanted more time for thought," Russell told reporters seeking the reasons for the cancellation.

There has been criticism of the deal from some Congress members. Saturday, administration officials reported that Kennedy last month had ordered a review of U.S. aid to Yugoslavia.

Disclosing the transaction last week, the State Department said it was intended to help Yugoslavia stay free of Soviet domination. In connection with the sale of the 135 planes, eight Yugoslav Air Force men are being trained at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

The State Department said the purchase agreement was completed Jan. 15, five days before Kennedy succeeded Eisenhower. Kennedy could have canceled the contract, but decided to let it stand.

Market Is Irregular and Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed irregularly lower early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .40 at 256.00 with industrials off .40, rails unchanged and utilities off .40.

Losses of fractions to a point or so outnumbered gainers among pivotal issues.

As Chrysler faces what promised to be tough negotiations with the United Auto Workers, the stock fell about 2 points, dampening other Big Three motors.

Steels backed away unevenly as prospects for a lag in steel output continued, in view of the auto work stoppages. Airlines took a string of losses. The edge was to the downside among tobacco and retail. Aircrafts were steady to a bit higher.

Wall Street had its fingers crossed as to what new development would come out of the Com-

Plane Lands Safely in an Emergency

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Braniff Airways Electra with 49 persons aboard made an emergency landing safely on a foam-covered runway at Carswell Air Force base today.

The turboprop plane, en route to Chicago, developed landing gear trouble shortly after taking off from Love Field in Dallas and headed for Carswell, which has the longest and widest runways in this part of the country.

The Electra made a wheels-up landing, skidding through the foam. The passengers scrambled out seconds after.

The plane, Flight 562, was to have stopped at Oklahoma City, Wichita and Kansas City.

Ford Resumes Production at 16 Plants

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. resumed production of cars today at half of its 16 assembly plants following a 13-day strike by the United Auto Workers Union.

But it was uncertain how soon the company would be back in full production.

An insurgent group of tool and die makers at the Rouge industrial complex in Dearborn, Mich., defied orders of the UAW leadership to join a back-to-work movement of Ford's 120,000 production employees.

Instead, some 850 members of the unit attended a meeting at Local 600 hall to press their demands for job security. They claimed the company has been farming out jobs to subcontractors.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther described the demonstration as "insignificant." He said the union for the first time had obtained an agreement from Ford to consult the union on subcontracting.

The UAW Executive Board Sunday ordered local unions to call off strikes at all but two of Ford's 85 plants. The board refused strike authority to the tool and die unit, ruling that its problems could be settled in further negotiations at the local level after the group went back to work.

The company hoped to have all its plants back in operation by Wednesday.

The United States contains more than 4,700 drive-in theaters.

went into an inlet. The refugee boat anchored, and the occupants went ashore.

"At 3 p.m. the boat that appeared to have been fishing pulled up anchor and advised Sears that it was returning to Cuba," Moody related. "But instead it went into the inlet and opened fire with rifles on the refugee boat. The crew returned the fire with a couple of rifles and then jumped overboard and waded and swam to shore. The Cuban boat turned its fire on the refugees waiting on the beach and kept it up for 10 or 15 minutes. Finally it left."

No one was injured. The group comprised 21 men, 6 women and 18 children.

Lawmakers Against Slav Deal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — American policy of selling jets to Communist Yugoslavia and training Yugoslav pilots drew icy blasts from five Arkansas congressmen over the weekend.

But Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, reserved judgment on the situation. Reps. E. C. Gathings, Oren Harris, Wilbur Mills, Dale Alford and Catherine Norrell were united in their opposition to the government policy.

Their reaction came amidst a storm of protest raised by Texas National Guard officers that Yugoslav pilots were being trained by the United States and that jets were being sold.

Sen. John McClellan and Rep. J. W. Trimble were not available for comment and said "immediate action should be taken to eliminate a situation of this kind."

Fulbright said he presumed the sale and training program were approved by the Pentagon and the Defense Department.

"If the joint chiefs of staff, the president and his political advisors agree that it is in the interest of the security of the United States, I am in no position to question that at this time," he said.

Alford described the situation as "absurd" while Mills urged sending the Yugoslavs home and rescinding the sales of the planes.

Mrs. Norrell, who acknowledged that she had voted against the president's entire foreign aid program, said: "When the major part of our tax dollar is going for defense, why should we give the communist bloc countries aid to make them stronger and more difficult to deal with."

Harris, indicating he constantly opposed military aid to Yugoslav President Tito, said he could see no reason to believe the U.S. could win the Balkan nation over to the American viewpoint.

Arkansas has 40 national forests in addition to millions of acres of beautiful productive commercial forests.

Heat Proved to Be No Obstacle

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Not even the 104-degree heat subdued the glee of exuberant Pulitzer prize-winning author Upton Sinclair as he married Mary Hard Willis.

The bride was equally delighted.

A few friends attended the couple's wedding Saturday at St. Ambrose Episcopal Church.

The bride, 79, was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Frederick Hard, president of Scripps College. Sinclair is 83.

As photographers posed them, the writer remarked: "They're here because they're interested in our ages. They think it's picturesque."

"I didn't want him to have a child bride," quipped the new Mrs. Sinclair.

No Porker Label

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Harry Hastings, president of a Little Rock distributing firm, says he will remove Razorback whisky from the market as soon as the present supply is exhausted. A stirrled through the University of Arkansas when the whisky, emblazoned with a galloping razorback hog on its label, went on the back hog on its label, went on the market. University officials met with Hastings who acquiesced to their demands that it be removed from sale as soon as possible.

Didn't Know About Real Poverty

BOSTON (AP) — The father of a young woman Peace Corps member whose postcard caused an uproar in Nigeria says his daughter entered the corps "to help the country and ease world tensions."

A postcard Margery Michelmore, 23, had written in Nigeria and intended to send to a friend in this country, mentioned poverty and squalor in Nigeria.

It drew strong criticism from African students and a demand that the Peace Corps get out of Nigeria.

The young woman's father, Howard Michelmore of Foxboro, a business executive, said his daughter "was brought up around Foxboro and Boston, so how could she know what real poverty was like?"

Miss Michelmore is a 1960 graduate of Smith College.

"She just wanted to help the country and ease world tensions," her father said. "It was what she wanted to do — I had no objections."

"She disliked publicity and certainly would not do this with intent."

Gets Ticket for Reckless Diving

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Harold L. Dunnigan may be the first man in history to get a ticket for reckless diving.

Dunnigan, of nearby Santa Monica, took a pleasure dive Sunday in what you might call a 2-foot. It's a miniature submarine that accommodates two people.

He stayed down about 15 minutes. When he surfaced a harbor patrol boat was waiting for him. The officer aboard wrote a citation.

"Endangering surface craft by submerging and returning to the surface in the vicinity of the harbor entrance," it said.

Officer Robert E. Pierce said Dunnigan was warned on at least three previous occasions not to submerge in or at the mouth of the harbor.

No Commissioner of Revenues Yet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he probably won't name a new revenue commissioner this week.

Faubus returned to his office from a week's vacation. While he was gone, appointment of Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cherrill to the Commerce Commission was announced.

Possible successors to Cheney being mentioned around the capitol today include Purchasing Director Mack Sturgis, Comptroller L. A. Mashburn, Alcohol Beverage

Commissioner J. Orville Cherrill, and James L. Bland, administrator of the Employment Security Division.

Faubus said reports that Cheney was being moved out as commissioner because of disagreements with the governor were not true.

Miller-Hobbs Wedding Party Entertained

Dr. and Mrs. George Edward Miller, Dallas, entertained the Miller-Hobbs wedding party and out-of-town guests following rehearsal with a buffet supper at the Hope Country Club Friday evening, October 13.

The buffet table was overlaid with a linen cutwork cloth. A fall arrangement of pyracantha berries and foliage, bronze and yellow chrysanthemums formed the background for serving. At each end tall yellow candles burned in black iron hurricane lamps. On the individual tables at which the 32 guests were seated, similar fall arrangements were placed.

For the occasion Miss Hobbs was attired in a dress of amber chiffon with matching corage. At this time gifts were presented to the bride party.

When Father and Son Clash

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Could you tell me what seems to be the trouble, emotionally or mentally, with some fathers of adolescent boys? It's my experience, as well as that of several of my acquaintances, that fathers who are fine otherwise seem unable to engage in any conversation with their own teen-age sons without becoming irate.

When the boys try to up hold their views, which they are bound to do, the atmosphere becomes so strained that the whole family is uncomfortable. Many a dinner is spoiled for us by arguments between my husband and our son. My husband is a very nervous man; even television upsets him.

Dear Distraught: Coping with adolescent boys is a job to try you, or any other man, you would certainly be wasting time to pursue her. I'm sure you'll have no trouble finding more agreeable feminine companionship.

When your unruly, opinionated, rebellious teen-ager suddenly emerges as a poised, respectful, idealistic and devoted son of nine, or thereabouts, the heated arguments and tense moment are forgotten.

That the task of rearing adolescents to a state of adult maturity does require the utmost patience and forbearance is beyond question. Therefore, when one or the other parent is emotionally disturbed, or torn with nervous tension, the resulting turmoil can readily become unbearable to the entire family.

During this period, your son is in a state of physical, mental and emotional growth that cannot be speeded. Nature must take her time with him, so it's up to the adults of the family to make adjustments.

The help of understanding parents is essential to children of this age, and since your husband's obviously nervous state naturally precludes much help from that source at present, something must

Miss Evelyn Briant left Sunday for Shreveport to conduct a training school for the Sunday school teachers at the Noel Memorial Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sam Dameron of Washington, D.C., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Carl Smith and grandmother, Mrs. Martha Nunn.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Huddleston went with the Paul Huddleston family of Nashville to Naples, Tex. Sunday to be with Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Huddleston and family for a joint birthday celebration of the local Mr. Huddleston and three of his grandsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Humphries and daughters of Shreveport, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ruggles and Miss Lucille Spough.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Easterling and Jackie spent the weekend in Dallas with T. C. Wilson and attended the Texas State Fair.

He should consult a doctor, who will help calm father's nerves, and also tell him enough about the problems of adolescence to help him understand his son better. Apparently there's a special anesthesia that makes some parents forget the trials of their own teens.

Dear Helen: I am 40 years old, while still playing ball at the University of Southern California by a scout who promised: "You'll be playing in the majors in two years." A year later he was in the field for the St. Louis Browns. After Navy service in World War II, he was back with the Browns, got peddled to the Cleveland Indians in 1948 and played in the World Series. In 1952 he was sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates at the nadir of their fortunes. A leg injury convinced him to quit the next year.

A native Angelino, John came back home for a return to his other love, acting. He had started young, as a member of "Our Gang," but quit at 9. During his baseball years, he studied off season at the Pasadena Playhouse and with a private coach.

But he found out acting was tougher to crack than baseball. "Once I even got turned down for a part in a baseball picture," he said. "The producer said I didn't look like a ball player!"

John had some lean years, but he stayed with it. He began to specialize in TV heavies and in recent years has bettered his top baseball salary—$20,000 plus $7,000 World Series money. He augments his income by selling TV scripts.

Now 42, John has no worries about his old age. He starts collecting his baseball pension at 50, maybe sooner. He participates in the pension plans of the Screen Actors Guild and the Writers Guild of America. And he expects to be around to collect his Social Security.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Is There a Test for Love?"

Rayburn Still Seriously Ill

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn 79, remained seriously ill with incurable cancer today after a week-end during which he weakened and then rallied.

New Pact in Congo Is Protested

By DENNIS NEEDLE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo

(AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula, protesting the new U.N.-Katanga pact strengthens President Moise Tshombe, declared the central Congo government is still determined to take over the rich secessionist province.

The U.N. meanwhile got a warning from Tshombe that unless the U.N. Advisory Committee on the Congo ratifies the agreement, he will hold as hostages the 184 U.N. troops taken prisoner in the recent fighting.

Dr. Sture Linner, head of U.N. operations in the Congo, appeared described Rayburn as seeming more alert but said that there had been no basic change in his condition, which was termed serious.

The bulletin also said the initial course of treatment with 5-fluorouracil and FUDR has been completed.

"After a period of observation, if his condition permits, treatment will be resumed with FUDR or irradiation therapy or both," the report said.

The hospital said Rayburn had been seen by Dr. Anthony R. Currier, director of the Cancer Research Hospital, University of Wisconsin Medical School.

harried after a heated two-hour conference with Adoula Sunday night.

A U.N. spokesman said Adoula was "not very happy" about the new cease-fire agreement signed Friday that, in effect, recognizes the right of Katanga to defend itself from attack by central government forces.

Adoula declared in a radio address that the Leopoldville government has a right to use "suitable means" to end Katanga's secession. He did not elaborate, but central Congolese forces are already massed on the Katanga border.

A U.N. spokesman said the U.N. was not backing down on its determination to clean out foreign mercenaries in the Katanga forces.

The new agreement, he said, merely supplements the provisional cease-fire reached with Tshombe at Ndola Sept. 20.

The whole agreement must be ratified by the U.N. Advisory Committee on the Congo before becoming permanent. The committee was expected to meet today in New York.

Drug Patent Hearings Open

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate group opens hearings today on the patent provisions of a disputed drug industry bill.

Commissioner of Patents David L. Ladd and Johan Bjorksten, president of the American Institute of Chemists, were scheduled as the leadoff witnesses before the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee. The hearings will continue through Wednesday.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., subcommittee chairman and author of the bill, has described the patent provisions as its most controversial part.

Among other things, they would require compulsory licensing of patents on prescription drugs after three years.

Six Successful Space Catches

HONOLULU (AP)—An elite group of airmen who haul flying trapezes through the sky to snare capsules which have orbited in outer space have made six such catches, the latest Saturday.

Capt. Warren C. Schensted, 32, of Glenwood, Minn., commanded the JC130 turboprop which caught the precious 110 pound payload of Discoverer 32 at 9,000 feet Saturday.

The polarorbiting capsule, fired aloft from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California contained a variety of items to determine the effect of exposure to space radiation.

According to estimates, there are $750,000 mail boxes in the United States for the pick-up of mail.

Amendments Studied by Sports Group

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 51-member Amateur Athletic Union is studying three amendments aimed at giving American athletes a better competitive status, especially in international meets.

The changes were proposed Saturday by Darrell Smith of San Diego, president of the Pacific Southwest Association, at a meeting of 13 Western associations of the AAU.

Smith suggested: —Athletes who are professional in one sport might compete as amateurs in other sports without disbarment.

—Individuals who make a living in connection with the sale of sporting goods and other commodities would no longer lose amateur status.

—Restrictions against persons who receive payment for loss of time and wages would be removed. This would allow those who are dependent on earned income to compete without financial loss.

Smith said he would offer the proposals at the AAU's national convention which begins Nov. 29 in Washington, D.C.

Hilarity Is High in Valle Show

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—Hilarity is high and sharp in "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Starring Rudy Valle, the long-ago radio crooner, and Robert Morse, an impudent young comic, the musical arrived Saturday night at Broadway's 46th Street Theater.

Composed by Frank Loesser, directed and co-authored by Abe Burrows—shrewd experts both—the production glints with professional polish. Although not uniformly brilliant in all parts, it should be regaling customers for a long time. Valle and Morse are knockouts.

The plot is a sardonic safari through the skyscraper jungle of career ambition, replete with eager beavers, office rats and boss mooses. Morse portrays, with Mickey Rooney glee, a bumptious ex-window washer out to reach the top in ways that would make Horatio Alger blush.

Valle, a bit puffy and paunchy in pince-nez, comes back to the spotlight after long absence to etch a cartoon of executive fatuousness as a wicket manufacturer. Then he kids his high-browed tunes of yore with "Grand Old Ivy" and "Love from a Heart of Gold." The first nighters ate the sugary corn with glee.

The over-all score, on initial hearing at any rate, seems lower. Loesser, with no memorable melodies. The composer does, however, use his multiple skills for a number of effects, rare and complex for the Broadway stage.

Troops to Help Make a Picture

PARIS (AP)—Seven hundred troops of the U. S. 8th Infantry Division will be brought to Normandy from West Germany next week for filming of a motion picture.

A spokesman for the U.S. European Command said today the Department of Defense approved a request for the troops made by producer Darryl Zanuck. The spokesman said the approval was quite proper because the troops will be considered on a training exercise.

Allied invaders stormed ashore at Normandy June 6, 1944. The movie company recently was supplied about 150 U.S. Army Rangers for scenes depicting the bloody assault of the then Nazi-held Normandy.

At that time there was some criticism in Congress.

THE STORY: Returning to his home, Mike finds the body of the Frenchman named Maurice lying in the lane. Before he can call the Spanish police, he is struck from behind. When he is struck from behind, when he regains consciousness he is at Don Willie's place, with James Lynch, an Englishman, who admits he killed Maurice.

Chapter XIII

"The job at Rabat," Beecher said slowly. "Is that what the Frenchman wanted?"

"Let's proceed in a straight forward fashion. Well, after that truck in the cafe this afternoon, Maurice went up to your villa. I'd seen what was happening, so I tagged along to talk some sense into him. But it was quite hopeless. He planned to kill you."

Lynch shook his head. "Frightfully unstable fellow. Thought that I would make Don Willie reconsider, give him another chance, and so forth. Well, I couldn't have him killing you. And if he tried and failed, it might even have been worse. Police, and all that."

Lynch put out his cigarette with a strong twist of his wrist. "So killed him. Then you drove up, couldn't let you call the police, so I tapped you on the head, slung you into your car, and popped back here."

"What will you tell the police when they arrive?"

"I don't imagine they will. You don't have a dog at your villa, do you?"

"What's that got to do with it?"

"I tucked poor old Maurice behind those bushes along your front wall. A dog might sniff him out, but your maids won't find him till morning. We'll be gone by then."

Beecher managed to work himself up to a stinging position. "You assume we're flying off to Rabat on schedule? With a dead man lying in my garden?"

"We're not going to Rabat," Lynch said mildly. "In your useful American phrase, we intend to hijack that plane."

"Are you out of your mind?"

"I know this is all something of a surprise to you," Lynch said. "I'd suggest you let me finish. The job Don Willie offered you in Rabat doesn't exist. And I have no business there, of course. The old pal from Dakar and so forth, all that was bunkum."

Lynch said. "I think you'd better come to the point," Lynch said casually. "Yes, yes, but first I must explain to you Don Willie's fingers dug into Beecher's shoulder. 'I was working like a slave for all Germans. To show to the world that we can be good people. So that the feeling against my country

National Thrift Week Is Now Here

By SAM DAWSON
A Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—This is National Thrift Week and it couldn't come at a more ticklish time.

Those who should be happiest about it are worried. They fear the accent is going to be on spending, much as that will please a lot of people on the other side of the fence.

True, people have been saving more of their net income after taxes than usual, especially when industry has recovered from a slump, when work weeks have lengthened, and more people are employed than awhile back.

The President's Council of Economic Advisors reports Americans were saving at an annual rate of $25.8 billion in the April-June quarter.

So you'd think the thrift industry would be happy. This industry roughly consists of those who offer a harbor for your savings, whether it be in bank accounts, insurance, pension reserves, savings and loan accounts, credit unions, federal saving bonds, or the may field of investment open to the small income family.

But right now many of those who invite your savings—mostly with higher interest rates than just a few years back, and often with premiums and gifts—see a change under way in your habits.

They note that spending plans are hatching, if one can trust the various polls of consumer intentions. More concrete, they see in stalwart debt turning up again after a period of decline. Some caretakers of your money report that withdrawals are running ahead of deposits.

So the thrift industry is stepping up its promotional drive. Your banker grows friendlier all the time, and not just during National Thrift Week. Convenience is the slogan at many thrift institutions—the aim to make it as easy—almost to save as to get into debt. And the interest rates paid on savings are in many instances as high as the local laws allow.

The sellers aren't idle either. Promotions for many items are gaining momentum as the cooler weather brings out the spenders, and as the industrial recovery puts more money in many pockets.

Economists on the sidelines—that is, employed neither by banks nor consumer goods makers and sellers—say there is room for both in the present economy. Saving is essential to a healthy economy. And so is increased spending for economic growth.

With national income rising, both are possible.

But since this is National Thrift Week, let's listen to a champion of thrift. He is C. Elwood Knapp, president of the United States Savings & Loan League, whose members want you to save more so they'll have more to lend to those who want to spend—for new homes or whatever.

"The habit of saving money," he says, "is a vital double factor in raising our standard of living. It is the best means of bringing to each individual the things he wants most and, at the same time, his savings provide the capital needed for continued national economic growth."

That would seem to take care of both sides of the saving-spending business. But like many other businessmen, Knapp would like to see the government help by creating incentives.

"In a number of European countries," he notes, "the governments have encouraged thrift by allowing tax deductions for some amount that is saved or used for payment of life insurance premiums. Another widely used device is to make earnings on savings accounts tax free."

would die away," Don Willie blew his nose.

"I understand you want me to help you steal an airplane," Beecher said. "How's that going to help the fatherland?"
